

Oregon Public Broadcasting established the Cornerstone Society in 1989 to recognize its most generous supporters, those who donate $1,000 or more a year. Over 600 Society members throughout Oregon and southern Washington play a vital role in keeping the vision of quality programming and community service alive at OPB.

The Cornerstone Society offers its members a variety of services and privileges, including access to video and audio lending libraries, invitations to special events and receptions, personal tours of the broadcast center, and behind-the-scenes information.

Cornerstone Society Benefits:

- Annual Celebration Dinner
- Special Events and Receptions with OPB, PRI, NPR and PBS personalities
- Video & Audio Lending Library
- Weekly E-mail Bulletin
- Annual Lunch Meeting with President and CEO
- Private Tours of OPB
- Recognition in OPB Member Guide
- Personalized donor service for membership questions
- Satisfaction of helping OPB to thrive as a unique community resource, and one of the most respected public television and radio broadcasting institutions in the country.

Past and Upcoming Cornerstone Society Events:

- Preview screening of original OPB productions.
- Private receptions with radio and television personalities such as Peter Yarrow of Peter, Paul & Mary, Bob Edwards, Host of Morning Edition and Senior Correspondent of NPR, Ira Flatow the host of Talk of the Nation: Science Friday, the cast of Wait, Wait ... Don't Tell Me, Garrison Keillor of A Prairie Home Companion and Ira Glass, host of This American Life.
- Children's events with Clifford The Big Red Dog
- Annual Celebration Dinner featuring keynote speakers like Kevin Klose, President & CEO of NPR, Beth Hoppe, executive producer of Frontier House, Linda Wertheimer, NPR senior national correspondent and Paula Apsell, executive producer of NOVA.

For more information about OPB and the Cornerstone Society, please contact Julie Arnzen, Manager of the Cornerstone Society at 503-977-7765 or by e-mail at julie_arnzen@opb.org.